

1. We have no choice about what God knew in the past.
2. In the past, God had foreknowledge of our future actions.
3. We have no choice about the fact that God knows that in the future I will perform a certain action. (1,2)
4. If we have no choice about some facts, and those facts necessitate X, we have no choice about X.
5. God knowing that we will perform some action necessitates that we will perform that action.

C. We have no choice about whether we will perform our future actions. (3,4,5)

THE FOREKNOWLEDGE ARGUMENT

1. We have no choice about past facts.
 - 2*. In the past, there were truths about all of our future actions.
 3. We have no choice about the fact that God knows that in the future I will perform a certain action. (1,2)
 4. If we have no choice about p, and no choice about the fact that if p, then q, then we have no choice about q.
 - 5*. We have no choice about the fact that if it is true that I will perform some action, then I will perform that action.

C. We have no choice about whether we will perform our future actions.
(3,4,5)

The fatalist argument

It is also tempting to try to reconcile God's foreknowledge with our freedom by saying that God knows all of the choices we will face, and knows what would happen if we made various decisions, but does not know what decisions we will make.

It is important to see that this is not a way of reconciling foreknowledge with freedom — it is a simple denial of foreknowledge.
