

moral realism

moral
nihilism

A solid green circle with a subtle drop shadow, containing the text "moral relativism" in white, bold, sans-serif font.

moral
relativism

He then posed the following dilemma: either (1) (GR) is true absolutely, or (2) it is true only relative to the beliefs of people who accept (GR).

If (1) , then (GR) is false, since it is a counterexample to itself.

So suppose that we go for option (2), and say that (GR) is only true relative to the beliefs of certain people. What does this mean?

But now we have a new truth:

Maybe something like: some people accept a theory according to which
(GR) is true.

(GR) Every truth is only true
relative to the standards of some person or group.

(GR+) Some people accept a theory according to which (GR) is true.

He then posed the following dilemma: either (1) (GFR) is of people who accept (GR).

true absolutely, or (2) it is true only relative to the beliefs

So suppose that, we go for option (2), and say that (GR) is only true relative to the beliefs of certain people. What does this mean?

Maybe something like: some people accept a theory according to which

`(GR) is true.`

relationships of

sonderpreisgrupp.

(GR) Everything is only true

(GR+) Some people accept a theory according to which (GR) is true.

(GR+) Some people accept a theory according to which (GR) is true.