

moral
realism

moral
nihilism

A solid green circle with a subtle drop shadow, containing the text "moral relativism" in white, bold, sans-serif font.

moral
relativism

Frederick Douglass

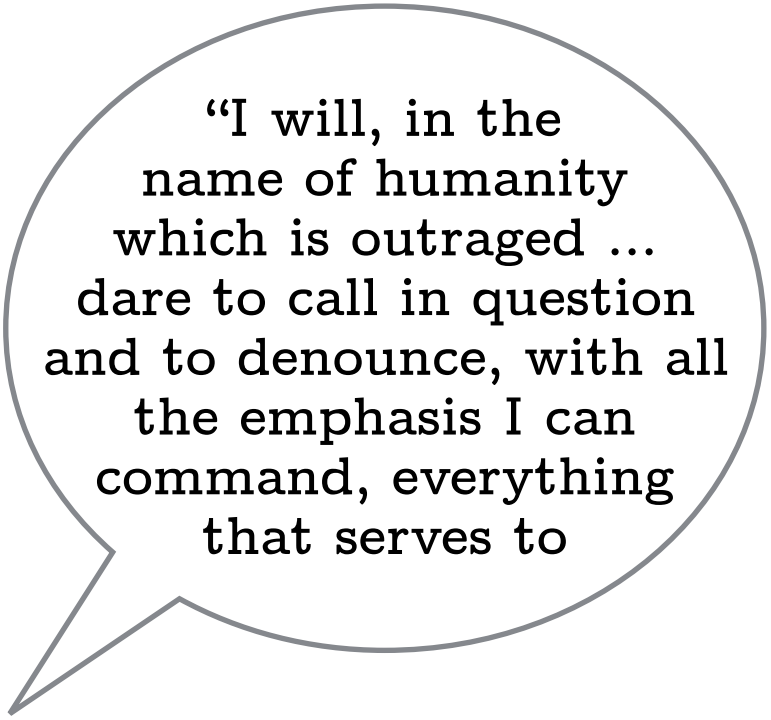

John C. Calhoun

A large, light gray speech bubble with a thin gray outline. The bubble has a rounded top and a pointed tail at the bottom right. Inside the bubble, a quote is written in a black, monospaced, typewriter-style font. The quote is centered and spans four lines.

“Slavery is approved of in mid-19th century
America.”

Here, according to the moral relativist, we do have a genuine disagreement — which is what we want.

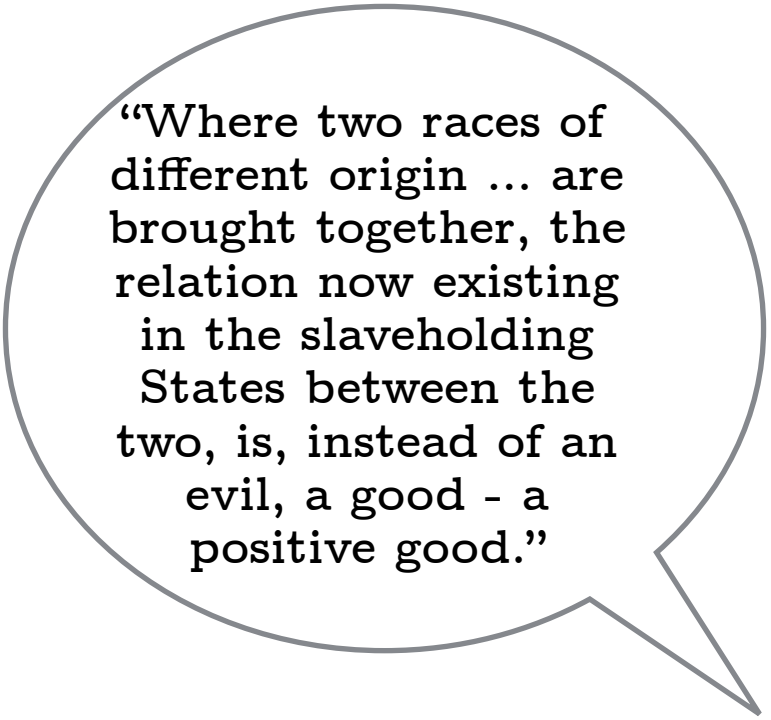

But it is a disagreement with a surprising resolution: on these interpretations, it appears that when Calhoun said that slavery was good, he spoke truly.

A large, light gray speech bubble with a thin gray outline. It has a rounded top and a pointed tail at the bottom left. Inside the bubble, a quote is written in a black, monospaced, typewriter-style font. The text is centered and spans eight lines.

“I will, in the name of humanity
which is outraged ...
dare to call in question and to denounce, with all the emphasis I can command, everything that serves to

A large, light gray speech bubble with a thin gray outline. It has a rounded top and a pointed tail at the bottom left. Inside the bubble, the text "Slavery is disapproved of in mid-19th century America." is written in a black, serif font, centered and arranged in four lines.

“Slavery is disapproved of in mid-19th century
America.”

A large, light gray speech bubble with a thin gray outline. It has a rounded top and a pointed tail at the bottom right. Inside the bubble, there is a quote in a black, monospaced font.

“Where two races of different origin ... are brought together, the relation now existing in the slaveholding States between the two, is, instead of an evil, a good - a positive good.”

How about cases of disagreement within a culture?

Friedrich Dögglass

John. Calvin

disagreement — which is what we want.

Here, according to the moral relativist, we do have a genuine interpretations, it appears that when Calhoun said that slavery

But it is a disagreement with a surprising resolution: on the

was good, he spoke truly.

mid-19th century

CS1a verry is disapproved if in

Amirica?

curtains?

How about cases of

disagreement within a