

the basic
argument

allowable
evils

A large, solid orange circle serves as the background for the text.

what is omnipotence?

the
argument
reformulated

So attention naturally focuses on premise (5).

5. If something is wholly good, it always eliminates as much evil as it can.

Can you think of any reason why a person might not eliminate
an evil without thereby doing anything wrong?

When is it permissible for a person to permit an evil to exist,
even when they can eliminate that evil?

Let's consider a few examples. Dentists sometimes cause people pain. Are they doing something morally wrong when they do this? Why?

Let's consider a more important example. Do parents ever cause their children pain? Is this ever permissible?

Oral Answers

as in every other case.

5. If something is wholly

good, it always reminds

an evil without thereby doing anything wrong?

Can you think of any reason why a person might not eliminate

even when they can eliminate that evil?

When is it permissible for a person to permit an evil to exist,

they do this? Why?

Let's consider a few examples. Dentists sometimes cause people pain. Are they doing something morally wrong when cause their children pain? Is this ever permissible?

Let's consider a more important example. Do parents ever

any possible

2: If something

cairibiriing about

is important, it

the 1990s, the number of people with a mental health problem has increased by 50% (Mental Health Foundation 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of people with mental health problems, and the importance of the role of the community. The National Health Service (NHS) has a commitment to the development of community mental health teams, and the Department of Health has published a strategy for mental health care (Department of Health 1999). The strategy states that the aim is to provide a range of services to meet the needs of people with mental health problems, and to ensure that the services are accessible to all.

The strategy also states that the services should be based on the needs of the community, and that they should be developed in partnership with the community. This means that the services should be designed to meet the needs of the community, and that they should be developed in partnership with the community. This means that the services should be designed to meet the needs of the community, and that they should be developed in partnership with the community.

The strategy also states that the services should be based on the needs of the community, and that they should be developed in partnership with the community. This means that the services should be designed to meet the needs of the community, and that they should be developed in partnership with the community. This means that the services should be designed to meet the needs of the community, and that they should be developed in partnership with the community.

The strategy also states that the services should be based on the needs of the community, and that they should be developed in partnership with the community. This means that the services should be designed to meet the needs of the community, and that they should be developed in partnership with the community. This means that the services should be designed to meet the needs of the community, and that they should be developed in partnership with the community.

The strategy also states that the services should be based on the needs of the community, and that they should be developed in partnership with the community. This means that the services should be designed to meet the needs of the community, and that they should be developed in partnership with the community. This means that the services should be designed to meet the needs of the community, and that they should be developed in partnership with the community.

The strategy also states that the services should be based on the needs of the community, and that they should be developed in partnership with the community. This means that the services should be designed to meet the needs of the community, and that they should be developed in partnership with the community. This means that the services should be designed to meet the needs of the community, and that they should be developed in partnership with the community.

The strategy also states that the services should be based on the needs of the community, and that they should be developed in partnership with the community. This means that the services should be designed to meet the needs of the community, and that they should be developed in partnership with the community. This means that the services should be designed to meet the needs of the community, and that they should be developed in partnership with the community.

2. If something is on it, wholly good.

1. If God exists, then God is

it can do anything.

(3,6)

4. If God exists, then God is

5*. If something is wholly good,

no point less evi1. (7)

8. If God exists, then there is

7. If God exists, then God

it always initiates as much prints even as it can.

3. If God exists, then God can evaluates Godair.(4,5)

6. If God exists, then God

elinitatesas much printless

do anything. (1,2)

elinites all point less vii.

C. God does not exist. (8,9)

9*. Some principles exist.

allowable
evils

A large orange circle with a subtle drop shadow, containing the text "what is omnipotence?".

what is
omnipotence?

the
argument
reformulated

evivivis. exis. stis.

9*. Some points less

A large, solid orange circle serves as the background for the text.

what is
omnipotence?

There are two especially important arguments against belief in God.

the basic
argument

allowable
evils

as in the visit card.

5. If something is wholly

good, it always reminds

even when they can eliminate that evil?

When is it permissible for a person to permit an evil to exist,