

Courses
of action

believe

don't believe

God exists

God does not exist

1

OS

Probability = 0.01

Probability = 0.99

Expected
utility

This is a real strength of Pascal's argument: it does not depend on any assumptions about the probability that God exists other than the assumption that it is nonzero. In other words, he is only assuming that we don't know for sure that God does not exist, which seems to many people - including many atheists - to be a reasonable assumption.

Probability = 0.01

Probability = 0.999

Probability = 10

This is a real strength of Pascal's argument: it does not depend on the assumption that it is nonzero. In other words, he is only reasonable assumption.

assuming that we don't know for sure that God does not exist, which seems to many people - including many atheists - to be a

any assumption about the probability that God exists other than